Marian Duke

Painter

1747 Glastonbury Road
dnmduke@shaw.ca

Marian's joy of painting started decades ago with palette knife painting in oils. She produced several works, but family and a nursing career put a hold on art. Later, floral watercolours became her passion as the enjoyment of creating and seeing the world differently inspired her.

Always thirsting for knowledge, Marian learned new techniques and applied them to a variety of art styles. Marian's love of flower arranging provides additional inspiration.

Marian does not take herself too seriously. She admits to making "painterly happy mistakes" as she works, but always finds joy in the process.

Gerald Fleming

Painter

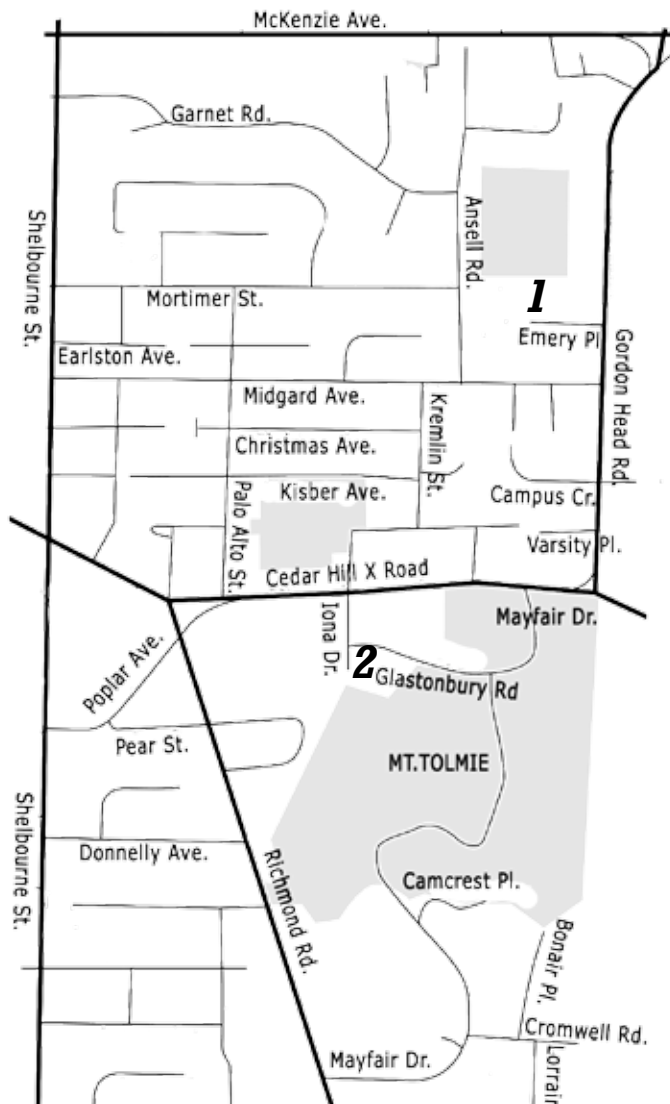

1812 Emery Place
250-477-8277
gfleming4@gmail.com

Gerald's art is an exploration and spontaneous journey. Colour, value, form, and composition are explored in oils, acrylics and watercolours, to evoke memories and reach out to the imagination of the viewer. The process of creating and enjoying art is a collaboration between the artist and the viewer. Each person brings his or her past experiences, hopes, and projections for the future to any visual perception.

For the artist, the fun of painting is the freedom to create something unique while stirring the imagination and, for a moment in time, transporting one's thoughts to somewhere else.

Brenda & Donna Lowe

Glass Fusion

Showing at 1747 Glastonbury Road
facebook.com/fusedartglass

FusedArtGlass Creations is the work of sisters Brenda & Donna Lowe. They enjoy creating one of a kind pieces, while attempting to capture the beautiful colours and interesting properties of the glass.

In the last year, they have been experimenting with different techniques, vitrigraph and drop vessels. It has been a learning year for these sisters, who are excited to participate in the 2016 Mt. Tolmie Artists tour.

place. It often takes time and a lot of looking before a photographer begins to see the extraordinary. Working with a camera gives Carol an opportunity to explore the world, capturing big landscapes or small details.

Her photography includes flowers, close-ups, abstractions, and landscapes, presented as cards or enlargements.
